January 25, 2019 @ 2:23EST

BREAKING NEWS: Trump announces deal for government to reopen for three weeks, ending longest shutdown; no money for his border wall. The House and Senate will vote on legislation to reopen the government until Feb. 15. During that period, lawmakers will discuss funds for border security and Trump's demand for $5.7 billion for the U.S.-Mexico border wall. The outcome was a win for Democrats and House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.), who had insisted on no negotiations until the government was reopened. This story will update.
