- COVID-19: Model Plans, Policies, Codes and Resolutions
- From Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians: DRAFT Pandemic Flu Plan
- Tribal Pandemic Influenza Plan

- CDC: Pandemic Preparedness Resources

While the content at the provided links was developed to prepare for, or respond to, an influenza (“flu”) pandemic, the newly emerged coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) is a respiratory disease that seems to be spreading much like flu. Guidance and tools developed for pandemic influenza planning and preparedness can serve as appropriate resources for health departments in the event the current COVID-19 outbreak triggers a pandemic.

- CDC: Nonpharmaceutical Interventions (NPIs)

NPIs are actions, apart from getting vaccinated and taking medicine, that people and communities can take to help slow the spread of illnesses like pandemic influenza (flu). NPIs are also known as community mitigation strategies. When a new virus spreads among people, causing illness worldwide, it is called a pandemic. Because a pandemic virus is new, the human population has little or no immunity against it. This allows the virus to spread quickly from person to person worldwide. NPIs are among the best ways of controlling pandemics when vaccines are not yet available. This website provides decision makers, planners, and public health professionals with educational tools, resources, pandemic planning guides, checklists, and select research about the types of NPIs and how they work in different settings.

Prevention Best Practices

- Wash your hands often with soap and water for 20 seconds. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands.
- Avoid close contact with people who are ill.
- Stay home when you are ill.
- Practice good respiratory etiquette and cover your mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing.
- If using a tissue, immediately throw the tissue in the garbage and wash your hands.

5. Legislation and Federal Policy

4/24 Follow-up to 4/3 USET/USET SPF COVID-19 Tip of the Day 2020:01: Document

As the Administration continues issuing guidance to implement COVID-19 stimulus legislation, the urgency of the public health emergency is forcing Tribal leaders to make COVID-19 decisions in real time based upon all available information—even if that information is incomplete or unclear. While funding details and related guidance will most certainly continue to evolve, it is critical to memorialize the status and availability of federal guidance as it influences Tribal Nation public policy decisions—even if it changes later. This will assist Tribal governments in defending these decisions during any potential audit or review of Tribal expenses covered by federal relief dollars. As part of your due diligence to document, we strongly encourage you to include documentation of any guidance, or lack thereof, that exists at the time of your COVID-19 expenditures.

Surveys: Information Gathering for Strengthened Advocacy Efforts

- The National Indian Health Board (NIHB) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) are collaborating on Project Firstline, an infection prevention and control (IPC) training initiative for frontline Tribal healthcare facility personnel. In order for this initiative to be as responsive to the needs of Tribal healthcare workers and the Tribal health system as possible, NIHB and CDC are asking you to complete this survey on infection prevention and control training interests, needs, and preferences. The survey should take less than 10 minutes to complete. Responses will be used to inform decisions on the development and delivery of training and capacity building efforts to ensure it best meets the needs of you and your colleagues. For more information on Project Firstline, email cwheeler@nihb.org.

- Participate in Survey on Tribal Inclusion in the SBA Paycheck Protection Program
NAFOA is seeking to better understand the extent of tribal participation in the Small Business Administration (SBA) Paycheck Protection Program (PPP). They respectfully ask each entity that applied, considered, or otherwise did not apply for an SBA PPP Loan fill out the survey. There are questions for all entities included in the survey. Any information collected through this survey will be kept confidential and will not be shared with anyone outside of NAFOA. Any public dissemination of the results of the survey will be anonymous and in a manner that does not allow the identification of any specific tribal government. Take the NAFOA Survey.

- The Intertribal Agriculture Council (IAC) seek to strengthen their networks and provide innovative responses to address pressing issues within our communities. In order to adjust their programming to better serve Indian Country, they have developed four national surveys to target 1) Tribal producers, 2) community grocers, food hubs, and cooperatives, 3) American Indian food companies, and 4) Tribal leadership to inform them of food system impacts brought about by COVID-19. These surveys can be found on their COVID-19 response page.

- Chair Raúl M. Grijalva (D-Ariz.) and the majority staff of the House Natural Resources Committee are seeking information from Native American communities impacted by coronavirus on the level of governmental response they’ve seen, the status of their health and social safety needs, and how Congress and other agencies can better serve them during the pandemic. The Committee has set up an online form and is welcoming input from Tribal Nations and Tribal organizations across the country.

- The Self-Governance Communication & Education Tribal Consortium (SGCETC), a non-profit Tribal organization governed by a Tribal Board of Directors, requests your assistance. They have heard concerns about the lack of access to supplies associated with collecting the samples for COVID-19 testing and a need for increased access to a limited number of public and private labs that analyze the tests. To more effectively relay their needs and challenges to those who can potentially assist in getting additional resources, they want to ensure their requests for assistance are as clear and direct as possible. In addition, by periodically surveying your supply need priorities over the next few weeks, they can determine if current shortages are being resolved and if other supplies are moving into a category of concern for supply shortages. Please note that this is a very limited survey specifically related to supplies generally associated with the collection of samples needed for COVID-19 analysis. SGCETC will secure all survey results and will NOT share individual results or identify survey respondents to anyone without the written permission of the Tribal Nation. Again, the analysis and communication related to the results will be in aggregate and will not identify specific Tribal Nations or Clinics. If you have questions regarding the purpose for the survey or safeguarding of information, please contact Jay Spaan, Executive Director, at jays@tribalsefargov.org or 918-370-4258.
• The National American Indian Housing Council would like to find out how COVID-19 is affecting your housing program and community, so please help by taking this short survey. Even if you have taken the survey before, feel free to submit a new response if circumstances in your community have changed.

• American Indian Alaska Native Tourism Association is distributing this survey broadly to get a better understanding of the impact of the response/containment effort for the COVID-19 specific to Indian Country tourism. Individual responses are confidential; they will be looking for collective data and concerns to ensure voices are heard in the days, months and year to come as they collectively work towards supporting Native communities.

• Native Women Lead has co-created a survey to better understand the challenges you are facing and how they can be supportive. Please fill out this survey and share it with your network. Native Women Lead is working to figure out how they can help move capital and resources to you all. Your support in filling out the survey will help guide them and all of their partners.

• There is legislation that includes Indian country specific funding. IHS is currently consulting on how to best disperse this funding. To offer your views and comments, please provide feedback ASAP by emailing consultation@ihs.gov.

• While we’re all doing our part to flatten the curve, take a moment to be counted in the 2020 Census! The 2020 Census will determine congressional representation, inform hundreds of billions in federal funding every year, and provide data that will impact communities for the next decade. Native Americans living on reservations and in traditional villages were the most undercounted people in the 2010 U.S. Census.

The federal government allocates nearly $1 billion in annual federal resources to Indian Country based on Census data. American Indian and Alaska Native governments use this money to provide educational assistance for low-income children, employment and training programs, health services, special programs for elders, and Indian housing and community development. Without an accurate count, Tribal governments do not receive adequate funding for these programs and are less able to meet the needs of their people.

Learn more about the importance of participating in the census and be counted at https://2020census.gov/.
