WHEREAS, the Budget Control Act of 2011 includes a provision to impose $1.2 trillion in across-the-board budget cuts also known as sequestration to almost all federal programs including education that would become effective March 1, 2013; and

WHEREAS, sequestration would make an impact on school districts during the 2013-14 school year, with the exception of the Impact Aid program, with which a reduction would become effective this school year; and

WHEREAS, sequestration would make an impact on education by a reduction of more than 8 percent and could result in larger class sizes, fewer course offerings, four-day school weeks, loss of extracurricular activities, and loss of teachers and staff; and

WHEREAS, sequestration would make an impact on almost every public school system in the Country and the millions of students educated through programs such as Title I grants for disadvantaged students, Title VII grants, the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), English Language Acquisition, Career and Technical Education, 21st Century Community Learning Centers and more; and

WHEREAS, Cherokee Central Schools, as well as other public schools, would be devastated by an estimated $2.7 billion loss from just three programs alone – Title I grants, IDEA, special education state grants and Head Start – that serve a combined 30.7 million children; and

WHEREAS, federal funding for K-12 programs was already reduced by more than $835 million in Fiscal Year 2011, and state and local funding for education continues to be impacted by budget cuts and lower local property tax revenues; and

WHEREAS, states and local governments have very limited capacity to absorb further budget cuts from sequestration, as Cherokee Central Schools has already implemented cuts commensurate to state and local budget conditions; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, the USET Board of Directors urges Congress and the Administration to amend the Budget Control Act of 2011 to mitigate the drastic cuts to education that would affect the students of Cherokee Central Schools and all other schools dependent on these funds, in order to protect education as an investment to economic stability and American competitiveness.
