

NA Homeownership Resources & Video; Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco

In case you missed these resources & the video:

I want to share a few resources recently published by the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. They've recently published a blog regarding the Alaska Rural Homeownership Guide that was developed with the help of our USDA RD colleagues in Alaska. Here are the links to the blog and the guide:

- www.frbsf.org/community-development/blog/overcoming-homeownership-challenges-in-rural-america-lessons-from-alaska/ (blog by Craig Nolte of the FRB)
- www.frbsf.org/community-development/files/alaska-rural-homeownership-guide.pdf (the guide)

The FRB of San Francisco also posted a video featuring the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribe of the Flathead Reservation (MT) homeownership program, which utilizes the HUD Section 184 Program, that is both informative and inspiring:

- www.frbsf.org/community-development/initiatives/native-communities/

Please take a moment to review and share these resources with all that might be interested.

Tedd Buelow
Acting State Director – Colorado
National Native American Coordinator
Rural Development
United States Department of Agriculture
Phone: 720.544.2911 | Fax: 720.544.2969
www.rd.usda.gov | “Committed to the future of rural communities”